

ABSTRACT

A multimedia playback device with USB controller has a digital camera module, a MP3 player module, a first controller connected to the digital camera module and the MP3 player module for controlling a digital signal, a second
5 controller connected to the first controller for accessing the data in the USB memory device, and a USB interface connected to the second controller for connecting an external USB memory device. The second controller in the present invention can directly access the external USB memory device.

10

15

20